With over a decade of experience at Apple, I have honed my expertise in account security, device security, cloud services, and comprehensive knowledge of all Apple hardware, software, and services. As a seasoned manager, I've led teams to ensure the utmost security and functionality across Apple's ecosystem. Now, I am eager to pivot my skills and passion into a cybersecurity SOC analyst role, leveraging my deep understanding of technology and security protocols to contribute effectively to threat detection and mitigation.